Yes, This Is a Completely New Assessment Tool!

All direct staff, facility administrators, or owners who will be performing resident assessments at your facility are required to take the new residential care assessment tool. Training will include an introduction to the new tool and how it utilize it. The tool has been completely rewritten to be more user-friendly and to take less time to conduct an assessment. This course will be administered by instructors trained by the Bureau of Health Facilities Administration.

Who Needs to Attend the NEW Resident Assessment Tool Training?

All staff who are currently conducting resident assessments (or newly-hired staff) at your facility must be trained to use the new R.A.T. and should be using it at this time for all admissions and re-assessments. After June 30, 2010, state surveyors will cite any facility not using the new document.
